JOHN DUKE AGAIN LOSES LAND SUIT

Title to Water Storage Site on Willow Creek Given to Arizona Land And Irrigation Company

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

According to a telegram received by Robert E. Morrison yesterday afternoon from Washington, the Arizona Land and Irrigation Company, was awarded a verdict against John Duke, in the celebrated case wherein rights of way were involved along Willow and Granite Creeks.

The case was on appeal from the decision of the register and receiver of the United States Land office at Phoenix, these officials some time ago finding in favor of the company, and the final decision was handed down by the commissioner of the general land office at Washington yesterday forenoon.

Previously, and in 1911, Duke instituted legal proceedings against the Arizona Land and Irrigation Company acquiring title to about 18,000 acres of government lands situated to the north of this city, and acquired on an exchange of Moqui Base scrip, in which action he protested against the scrip transaction being legalized, but received an unfavorable decision after several months of a review of the testimony by the secretary of the interior. In addition to the scrip lands above being adjudicated, the company also has contracted for the purchase of about 14,000 acres of railroad grant lands which are situated in the same domain as the scrip acreage.

The area of this domain extends from the site of the proposed dam to be built on Willow Creek about five miles to the north of Prescott, to Chino Valley, twenty-three miles north. Associated with the efforts of the company in the past, or since they entered this field on their water storage and land reclamation projects in 1910, they have disbursed the sum of over $95,000 it is authorized stated, and of which amount $20,000 last year was paid D. M. Wynkoop for the latter's ranch through which runs Willow Creek, the future storage center of the big dam, that will be built near its confluence with Granite Creek.
